ANGIE WINS THE ARCHIPRODUCTS DESIGN AWARDS 2019

A few months after its debut, the Angie armchair, designed by the Italian-Danish duo GamFratesi, has won the prestigious Archiproducts Design Awards 2019 in the Furniture category.

An armchair with a sinuous shape, enhanced by the presence of saddle-hide and an extremely accurate and tailored workmanship, which plays on the harmonious contrasts between the external sculptural frame and the inviting softness of the upholstered seat and backrest. A project that breathes new vibrancy into a piece with classic forms, at the same time offering a palette of variegated and unexpected shades of colours.

For its unique concept and design Angie has conquered the judging panel, which includes some of the most influential professionals of the design industry.

This recognition by the international design community bears witness to the creativity and high quality of Minotti and pays tribute to the recent collaboration with the GamFratesi studio.
