MINOTTI N.Y., PARTY 2016 COLLECTION

Many guests turned out for the premier hosted by Minotti New York on Tuesday, October 25th to introduce the 2016 Collection, coordinated by Rodolfo Dordoni and launched at the Salone del Mobile furniture show in Milan, where it received rave reviews. Designed for the event, the new display showcases the items introduced with the 2016 Collection, starting with the Freeman seating system, along with many complementary pieces.

All of the products were greatly admired, especially the Reeves series, a family of seating options crafted specifically to be integrated with style and elegance in residential settings and hospitality projects.

Welcoming guests, along with the Hakakian and Minotti families, was Amy Astley, new editor-in-chief of the highly-respected Architectural Digest magazine.
